

SUMMARY OF INVENTION:

The first objective of the present invention is to provide quick and easy access to a weapon for protection that is readily available. By stitching a leather holster onto the back of a standard leather glove and fastening it with a snap closure a small caliber hand gun provides the individual with a means to protect themselves.

BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF DRAWING:

Drawing 1 is a top view of how the holster would be stitched to the glove with a snap closure to keep the gun securely in place.